Day 1 Depart Phoenix with a stop at historic Cameron Trading Post, established in 1916. Here you can enjoy lunch on your own and learn some of the history of the Native Americans from this area. From the Trading Post we'll depart for Horseshoe Bend, a stunning 1,000-foot-high overlook where the Colorado River has carved a giant curve through the Navajo Sandstone. Spend the night in Page with a visit to the Red Heritage Native American Dinner Show, showcasing local dancers and music.

Day 2 A continental breakfast is included before you enjoy a tour of Antelope Canyon. Antelope Canyon is a small, but exquisitely beautiful geological formation in Northern Arizona, its unsurpassed beauty is breathtaking. Lunch is on your own in Page before departing to Monument Valley.

A tour of Monument Valley is always special, but even more so when it is set aglow by the light of the full moon. Travel the 17-mile loop filled with iconic landmarks like the East and West Mittens, and the awe-inspiring Three Sisters Viewpoint. In addition to the breathtaking landscape, enjoy dinner and a storytelling speaker. A Full Moon tour of Monument Valley will create memories that last a lifetime! Spend the night at Goulding's Lodge, steeped in rich history, and offering endless views of Monument Valley.

Day 3 Breakfast is included today before we depart for Canyon de Chelly. Nowhere in the Navajo Nation is the blending of past tradition and present culture more evident than at the Canyon de Chelly National Monument. Tonight will be spent at the historic Thunderbird Lodge, the only hotel in Canyon de Chelly. (No elevators). Dinner is included tonight at the lodge's restaurant, located in the original Trading Post built in 1896.

Day 4 Breakfast is included before you visit Window Rock, and the Navajo Nation Tribal Chambers – similar to our US Capitol Building.
